

Affiliate Compensation Plan

Commission-only. You are an independent contractor, not an employee. Effective August 2026.

	Growth ($199/mo)	Pro ($499/mo)
Close commission, per shop	$350	$700
Monthly commission, months 2–12	$20 / month	$40 / month
Full first-year total per shop	$570	$1,140

When you earn it

A commission is earned when a shop attributed to you pays its first full-price monthly charge. A discounted trial (for example a $1 first week) is not the qualifying charge; the clock starts when the full month is paid.

When it pays

The close commission becomes payable 7 days after the shop's first full-price charge. Monthly commissions become payable 7 days after each renewal payment. Payouts go to the bank account you connect through Stripe.

The 31-day rule

If a shop cancels, refunds, or charges back within 31 days of its first full-price charge, all commissions for that shop reverse, including any already paid, and no monthly commissions follow. After day 31, the close commission is yours for good; monthly commissions simply continue for as long as the shop stays, up to month 12.

Attribution, in one line

A shop counts as yours when it signs up within 30 days of your referral: your link or QR code, your referral code in the promo box at checkout, or a contact you entered by email. One affiliate per shop, first claim wins.

Taxes

You are an independent contractor responsible for your own taxes; nothing is withheld. Earnings of $600 or more in a year are reported on IRS Form 1099-NEC using the taxpayer information you provide during payout setup.

No income promises. These are the commission rates, not a projection. How much you earn, if anything, depends entirely on your own effort and circumstances. Most affiliates of any program earn little or nothing. When you promote CallKeep, you must clearly disclose that you earn a commission (FTC requirement).

This summary is provided for convenience. The CallKeep Affiliate Agreement (callkeep.ai/affiliate-terms) is the binding document; if they differ, the Agreement controls. This is not an offer of employment. Rates may change prospectively with notice.